Thank you so much for your interest in our photography services.

My name is Maria, owner of Tiny Hearts Photography. I am a newborn, child, and family photographer based out of Wyckoff, New Jersey. When I am not spending my days capturing each moment of your sweet beautiful lives, I am home being a mom of two gorgeous little ones.

Newborn Photography is my specialty, however, I also love capturing growing bellies and families too.

Being a photographer for 5 years now, I have learned that every moment in life is precious and truly magical that only lasts for a few moments. My goal is to

Style Guide

What to Wear

Choosing what to wear for your photo session can be a little overwhelming. Here are some quick tips on how to put together perfect outfits for your session. I highly recommend sticking to earth tones or muted tones. You want your faces and personalities to be the main focus. Also earth tones and muted tones will work with every decor, and will not go out of style like trendy colors will.

Start with one article of clothing, as an “inspiration piece” Build a color palette, with one to two neutrals and one accent. For large groups stay within the color palette but avoid exactly matching outfits. Layers and textures are beautiful, and will add a level of style to your session.

Newborn Sessions

Oh the joy of holding your tiny little baby for the first time! But they grow up so fast and you do not want to miss this chance to capture portraits of them so you can cherish this moment in life forever. I recommend the best time to photograph newborns when they are between 14 -20 days old. The sessions are about 2 to 3 hours long.

What to Expect

Newborn Session can take 2-3 hours to accommodate feeding times, set changes, and messy clean ups. I keep my studio nice and warm to keep your baby nice and comfortable, so make sure to wear light clothing to keep you comfortable. I also have a sitting area right by my shooting area for parents to relax while I photograph your baby.

What to Wear

I photograph all newborns nude, wrapped up, or in one of my many props and accessories. All the hats, knitted goodies, headbands, props, and backdrops you see on my website are all available for you to use for your session. If you are interested in being in a portrait with your newborn, you will want to bring an earthy toned neutral top for you and your spouse. The same goes for siblings.

What to Bring

Make sure to bring a change of clothes in case your baby has a mess on you. You will also want to bring plenty of extra diapers and wipes. If for whatever reason you forget, don't worry, my studio is fully stocked for your baby's needs. If your baby has taken a bottle, I would recommend bringing pumped milk or formula for me to bottle feed your baby during the session. This allows the baby to eat faster, and more at one sitting so that will sleep sounder. This allows for more setups in a quicker time frame.

This is only a suggestion if they are already taking a bottle.

If you are worried about your supply, I 100% support breast feeding and will take a break for you to breast feed. I also highly recommend bringing a pacifier.

Even if they do not normally take one, it is a huge help in getting them settled for that perfect shot.

Session Prep Guide

TO BRING:

PACIFIER

BOTTLES WITH PUMPED MILK/FORMULA

(even if your child does not typically use these, it is important that we have access to various soothing techniques to make sure your session runs smoothly)

HAIRBRUSH FOR BABY

GAS DROPS

TO DO:

Keep baby awake as much as possible prior to their session time. I highly recommend some naked time followed by a bath.

If baby still has not lost their umbilical cord, and you must sponge bath, do take care to wash his/her hair as clean newborn hair photographs best.

Dress baby in a zip/button up sleeper.

Something loose fitting so as not to leave lines on their skin, and nothing that will need to be pulled over their head.

Give baby an extra feeding before bucking him/her into the car seat.

Allow baby to fall asleep in the car on the way to the studio. When you arrive at the studio please leave baby in their car seat.

I will be the one to unbuckle and remove him/her and we will go right to work.

Sessions can take up to 2-3 hours, and since the environment must be peaceful and quiet to facilitate sleep,

Please note that the studio will be kept at 80-85 degrees to keep your little one warm while in their birthday suit lol Therefore,

I recommend dressing in layers so that you may remove as needed to remain comfortable.

Do bring an extra outfit for yourself in case baby soils your clothing. This happens often.

If you are breast feeding, no spicy or gassy foods 24-48 hours before the session.

Let's face it babies poop and pee so it's TOTALLY okay if he ends up doing this..

its part of the package so don't feel embarrassed.

As far as bringing props and stuff I have all that. Is there anything I need to be aware of for safety reasons.

I was thinking of keeping it simple for him and have him comfortable at all times.

Will that be okay with you? Let me know if you have any questions.

Baby Session

I absolutely love photographing babies! My goal is to always create a fun, safe and comfortable experience for your child. Letting me capture the smiles and the laughter bring so much joy to me and you!

Time flies by and before you know it they are all grown up and off to college, that is why it is so important to capture these milestones of your child, so you always have something to look back on and smile thinking about that day.

What to Expect

Milestone sessions, also known as Baby session can last anywhere from 15 to 30 minutes long. Babies get overwhelmed easily, so we take a lot of breaks to ensure the baby does not get fussy. Milestone sessions are done at 3 months and/or 6-9 months.

What to Wear

I style your session to your liking. I provide different outfits that best fits your session. If you are to bring your own outfits, I recommend sticking to a muted vintage color pallet. Bright colors will bring attention away from your baby's sweet face. Work with light layers, so the clothing does not overwhelm the baby.

What to Bring

Make sure to bring non messy snacks, and a favorite toy they might have. Unless they will cry and want to hold their toy then I would leave it at home. A helper is great to bring to help you with baby.

Maternity Sessions

What I enjoy most about a maternity session is capturing the beauty and intense emotion of this special time.

Pregnancy is a life-changing experience, and these invaluable memories will forever show your love between you and your growing baby.

Maternity Sessions are done around 32-36 weeks of pregnancy.

Time to bond with your belly...

Pregnant women often find themselves uncomfortable in their changing bodies. You may not feel that maternal glow, but your radiance cannot be denied. That glow-and the feeling of having that baby developing inside you- shows up in camera and in your portraits. In years to come, you will be so glad you had these photos done. And so will your baby.

Just relax, enjoy and bond with your belly.

Quick Tips...

Since this is such a special time, I always recommend getting pampered and having your hair and makeup done before session.

If this does not fit into your Budget its totally okay!

When picking the perfect outfit, I highly recommend sticking to earthy or muted tones. Its okay to show alittle belly as well too.

I welcome your partner, children/family during a family session. Its so important to include your family in your maternity session.

I want to caputre that connection between your family and your growing belly.

During your maternity session, I just want you to have fun and be you!

Family Session

I adore family photography sessions. For me it's more about capturing the connection than having them smile at my camera. Your family photos will tell your story of who you all truly are when spending time together. With busy lives, we tend to forget about that. Family Sessions are always done an hour before sunset. Each session last for about an hour. Location is offered, but your more than welcome to recommend a location as well.

Time To Bond...

I only schedule outdoor sessions within an hour to 1 1/2 hours prior to sunset. Sunset time vary greatly depending on the time of year, so we'll plan accordingly closer to the date of your session.

Summer sessions usually start around 7-7:30pm, so I always recommed late lunches, naps and dinners to ensure happy kiddos for your session.

Family sessions are only done outdoors and from April-November.

Quick Tips...

Bring food, drinks, snacks, favoite toy/dolls/blankies along to your session. The time we spend together isn't punishment or meant to be impersonal. I want the session to be indivisualized to you, so feel free to bring personal and meaningful items.

Be prepared for kiddos to possibly get dirty, wet or for hair to fall out of place from time to time. I promise we'll capture those clean neat family photos at the beginning of your session, but we'll spend the remainder running around, exploing, and having fun.

Don't be afraid to be you!

Smooth Sailing

Be You

You will have so much fun and be more comfortable if you dressed and styled in a way that reflects on you and your family.

Relax

The day of your session, try to relax and breathe. As a mom I totally understand how stressful it can be to get everyone dressed and ready, but I promise it will all work out and you will look amazing. Be sure to give yourself plenty of time to get ready, so you do not feel rushed or stressed.

Let Me Make Them Smile

Let your children be them. Never ask your child to smile, let me make them laugh so I can get real genuine smiles, and not forced fake ones. Be prepared to be silly if needed but I prefer to make them smile myself so they look directly at me

Letting Go

Sometimes children get bored so be prepared to have some fun and think outside the box. After a session, I love to recommend tickle fights with the children, and romantic moments for you and your partner. During our busy schedules, we tend to forget to just stop and love one another. That's when I come in and capture that real moment and love that you share with your family.
